HeartWork: DVD Celebrating the Lives of Direct Care Workers

HeartWork chronicles the development and presentation of an original theatre piece performed by women who work as home health aides and certified nurse aides. Through story-telling, music, song, and dance, the six cast members tell the story of their lives, providing an honest, moving, and often humorous account of what it means to be a caregiver.

The DVD is an excellent educational tool, which can be used in in-service trainings with direct care workers and/or supervisors, at events celebrating direct care workers, or to create greater public understanding of the value of caregivers to our society. PHI produced HeartWork in collaboration with Home Care Associates of Philadelphia, a worker-owned home care agency where most of the cast were employed.
